

Our team contract

GOALS SESSION 2

- You help create behavioral norms that you personally want to keep
- You understand the difference between rules from the coach and norms the team makes itself
- You consciously sign a contract as proof of your commitment

A team contract doesn't work when the coach writes it. It works when you write it yourselves. Today you build the agreements that protect your culture this season.

EXERCISE 1: WHAT DO WE EXPECT FROM EACH OTHER?

1 My top 3 expectations

Write down three things you expect from every teammate. Not about performance, but about attitude, respect, and effort.

1

2

3

Which expectation are you most willing to keep yourself?

EXERCISE 2: MY PERSONAL PROMISE

2 What do I promise the team?

Write down three promises you make to the team this season. Make them concrete, so you can check them later.

I promise to

I promise to

I promise to

EXERCISE 3: SIGNATURE AND COMMITMENT

3 The team contract

After the group discussion: write down the three behavior rules your team chose. Then sign, as proof of your commitment.

Our team chooses:

1

2

3

What do I do if a teammate doesn't keep the contract?

Name

Signature

Date

REFLECTION

Which promise will be hardest for you to keep? Why? How will you hold yourself to it?

MENTAL RESILIENCE: DEFENDING OUR CONTRACT

What do we do as a team when a player keeps breaking the contract? Write down what you would say or do.

"Agreements, not rules. You can break a rule. You own an agreement."

Atul Gawande, surgeon and team researcher