

Resilience & growth mindset

GOALS MONTH 6

- You distinguish a fixed mindset reaction from a growth mindset reaction in yourself
- You rewrite at least one negative self-thought into a learning-oriented formulation
- You name three concrete ways you have grown this season

How you deal with setbacks and mistakes determines how far you go in sports and in life. A growth mindset is not innate. You can train it.

EXERCISE 1: REWRITE THE MISTAKE1 Rewrite the Mistake

Write a recent mistake. Rewrite every "I can't" thought to "I can't yet" and add what you learn from it.

The mistake or setback:

WHAT I THOUGHT (fixed)

HOW I REWRITE IT (growth)

EXERCISE 2: PROGRESS LIST2 3 Things I Do Better Than Last Month

No comparison with others. Only with yourself.

EXERCISE 3: MY HARDEST MOMENT

3 Hardest Moment This Season

Describe the hardest moment. What did you do? What did you learn? How did you become stronger?

What was the moment?

How did I respond, and what did I learn from it?

MENTAL RESILIENCE: THE 24H RULE

After a bad match or training: you have 24h to be upset. After that, you look forward. Write how you make the switch from "frustration" to "learning".

"I have missed more than 9,000 shots in my career. I have failed over and over again in my life. And that is why I succeed."

Michael Jordan, 6× NBA Champion
