

SESSION 1

Who Am I?

What makes you unique — not as an athlete, but as a person?

"Know yourself. Without self-knowledge, all other knowledge is useless."

— Socrates

EXERCISE: CORE VALUES EXERCISE

Choose from this list the 5 values that best describe you: Courage · Honesty · Loyalty · Perseverance · Creativity · Caring · Ambition · Humor · Calm · Leadership · Empathy · Discipline · Freedom · Faithfulness · Curiosity

Write your top 5 below and explain WHY you chose each one.

WRITE

1. My 5 core values are... (and why)

2. If I described myself in three words to someone who doesn't know me...

3. What distinguishes me as a person from who I am as an athlete?

BEFORE OUR CONVERSATION

- Think about one moment this year when you were truly yourself — what were you doing?
- Bring this completed worksheet to the conversation.
- Write down what you want to ask your Character First mentor.

FREE REFLECTIONAFTER OUR CONVERSATION

- What did the conversation teach me about myself?
- Which value do I want to consciously live over the coming month?

⚡ MY ACTION: Before the next session, write your personal "identity sentence": "I am someone who..." — one sentence that defines you as a person.

My commitment:
