

SESSION 6

My Role Models

Who inspires you — and what does that say about who YOU want to become?

"Show me your heroes and I'll show you your future."

— Napoleon Hill

EXERCISE: MY THREE ROLE MODELS

Choose three people who inspire you (sport, music, family, history — anything goes).

For each person:

1. Name:
2. Which quality do I admire most?
3. Do I already have that in me — or is it something I want to develop?

Then look at all three: is there a common theme in what you admire?

WRITE

1. The common thread in my three role models is...

2. The quality of my role model that I feel I most lack is... How can I develop it?

3. Are you a role model for someone? For whom — and what do you see in that person?

BEFORE OUR CONVERSATION

- Ask yourself: do I really know these role models, or do I admire their image? What do I know about their hard moments?
- Who in your immediate circle is a quiet role model — someone not famous but who inspires you?

FREE REFLECTIONAFTER OUR CONVERSATION

- What did I learn about myself by looking at who I admire?
- Which quality do I want to actively practice over the coming month?

⚡ MY ACTION: Find one interview, book, or podcast from your role model and ask yourself one question: "What would they do in my situation?"

My commitment:
