

COACH PRESENTATION

Who are we?

Short culture track · session 1 of 2

— GOAL OF THIS SESSION

- ✓ Players name three values the team wants to show this season
- ✓ Players decide together what to keep and what to let go
- ✓ Each player records a personal, signed promise to the team

WATCH OUT

- Do not let the discussion slide into complaining about last season. Redirect toward who you want to be.
- Never force anyone to share. Voluntary participation keeps safety high and answers honest.
- Guard the time: each exercise has a target time. Short and sharp beats long and vague.

Three words for our team

🕒 10 min · Exercise 1/3

Players first write three words individually that they want people to say about the team — about behavior and character, not standings. Then combine the most chosen words into three team words.

"Two minutes writing alone, no talking. Three words you want people to say about our team."

Culture anchors

Two columns: what do we keep (behaviors, habits, moments) and what do we consciously let go? Make each point concrete in visible behavior.

"Left: what we keep as a team. Right: what we leave behind? Two minutes, then a short discussion."

Sign the team contract

⌚ 8 min · Exercise 3/3

Each player writes three concrete, measurable promises to the team and signs with name and date. A contract players write themselves works stronger than rules from above.

"Write three promises you can check yourself. Then sign with name and date."

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

- ? Which word did almost everyone choose, and what does that say about who you already are?
- ? What is personally hardest for you to let go of this season?
- ? Which promise do you dare to say out loud in front of the whole team?
- ? How do you make sure this contract is not forgotten after today?

CLOSING

Display the three culture words visibly in the locker room and keep the signed contracts. Bring them back midseason: "What did you promise, and how is it going?"
